

Ridgewood

*Richly appointed three-level townhomes with garages, lofts, cathedral ceilings, and handsome brick with cedar siding exteriors in Reston.
Masterpieces in the making from Van Metre.
Naturally.*

Since the mid-1950s, Van Metre has been building a reputation as one of Northern Virginia's finest builders. After more than thirty years in the homebuilding industry, Van Metre can point with pride to more than six thousand elegant colonial-design single-family residences and luxury townhomes in more than three score of the metropolitan area's most popular communities.

Masterpieces in the making at Ridgewood. Naturally.

Over the decades, Van Metre has won countless honors and awards for over-all community excellence, interior designs and energy conservation initiatives.

He has continued to employ only the most dedicated craftsmen while using only the best building materials.

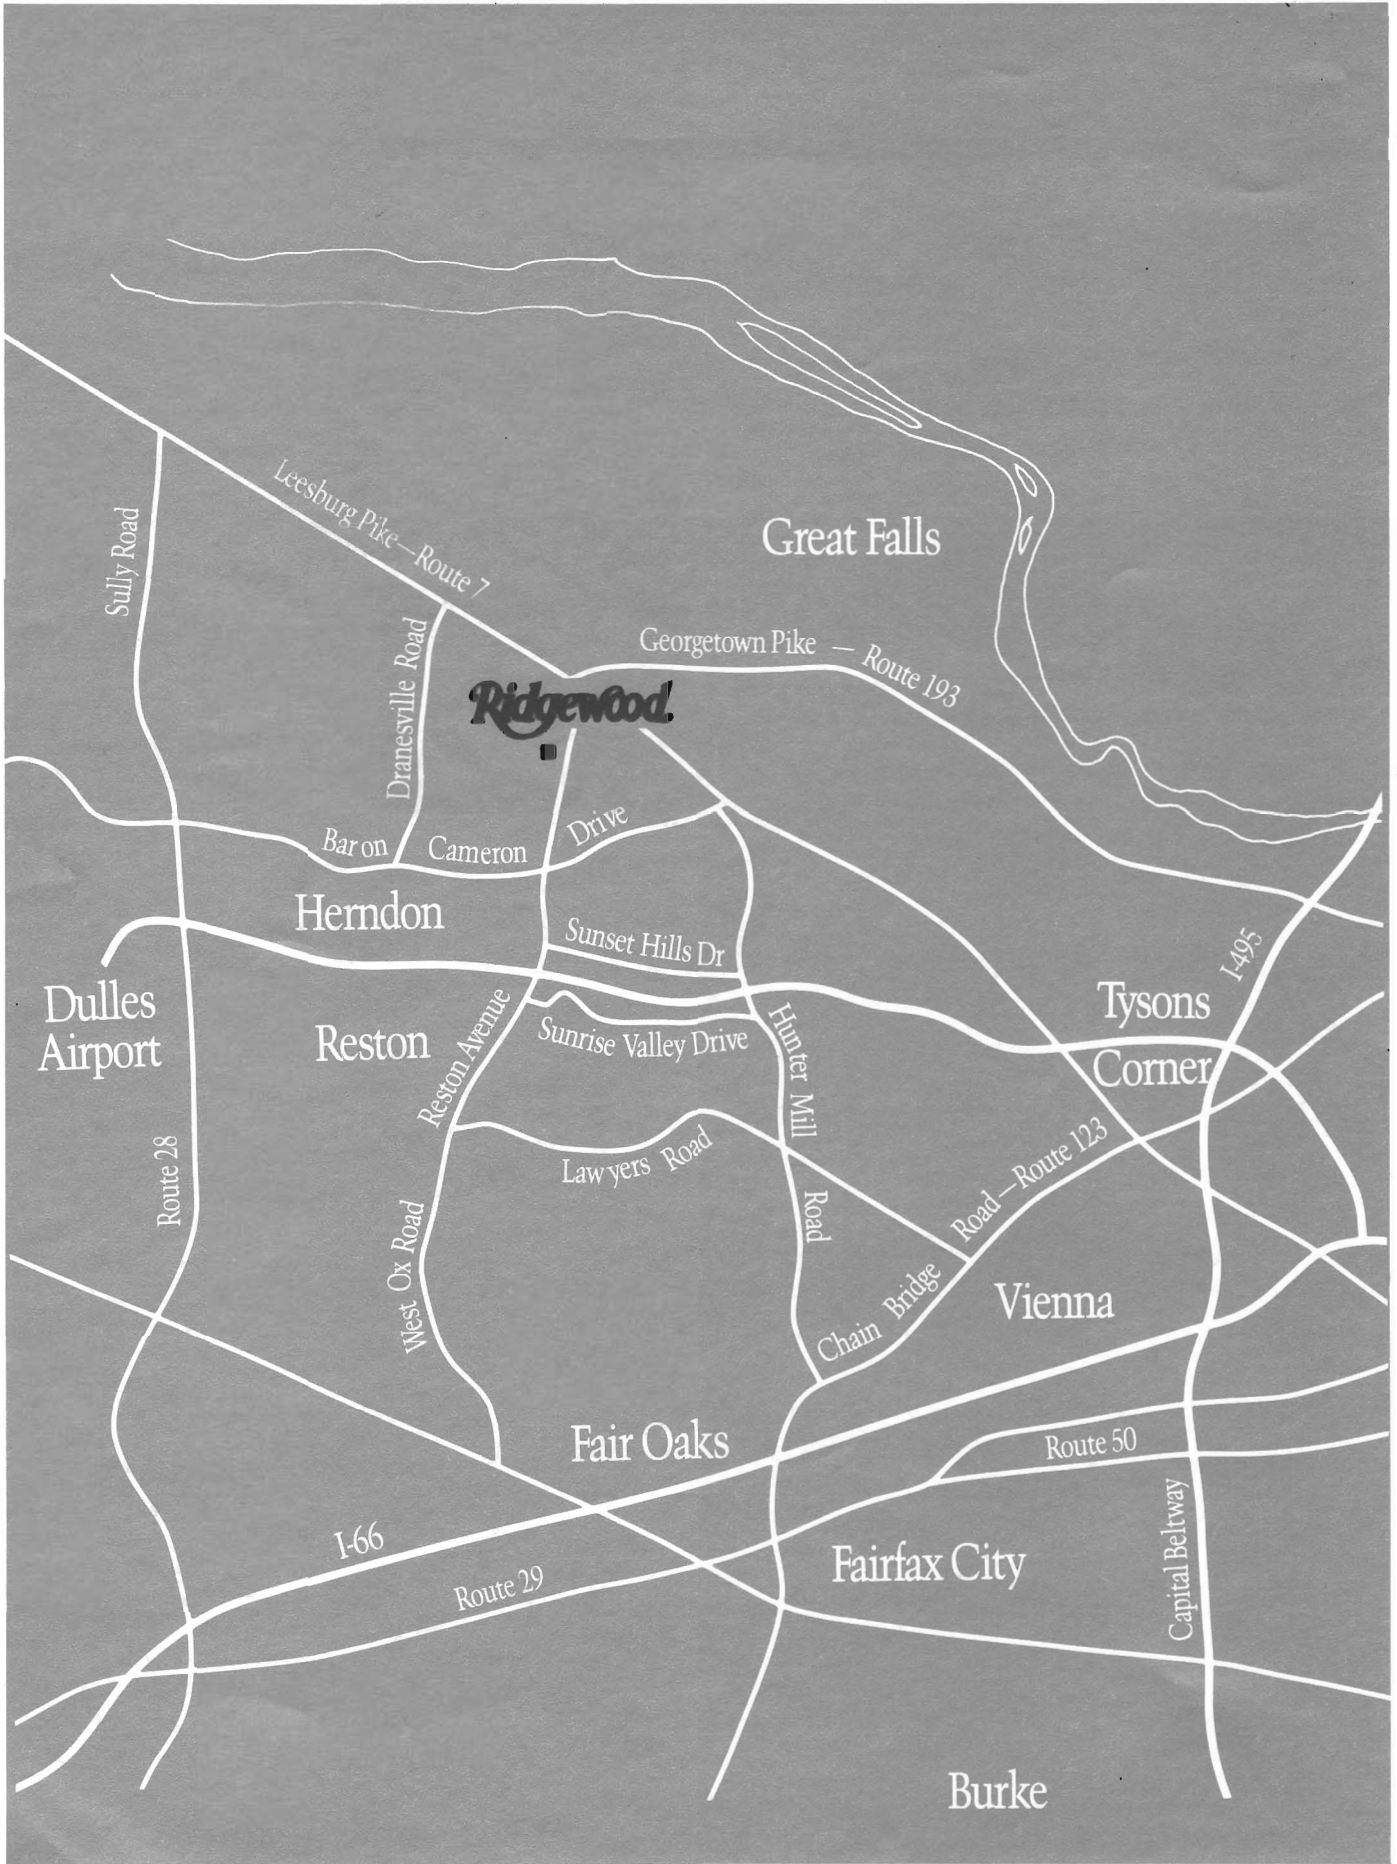

Through thoughtful land acquisition, careful master planning and development, he has remained steadfastly dedicated to preserving the irreplaceable natural features; the Van Metre name has become synonymous with a deep concern for the overall environment in which families will live.

Only after a careful examination of the homes Van Metre builds will you appreciate his commitment to excellence, his insistence on building quality homes of lasting beauty and ever-increasing value.

At Van Metre's luxurious Townes at Ridgewood in a lush, picturesque Reston setting, there's a masterpiece in the making just for you.
